Founding Support Lead — Customer Operations & Production AI Systems

Sole support, onboarding, education and demos for a B2B SaaS — then the AI system that handles most of it. I still work the queue every morning.

SUMMARY

For fourteen months I have been the entire customer-facing function at a B2B data SaaS — support, onboarding, customer education, demos and the product-feedback loop into engineering, alone. Then I built the production AI agent that now carries most of it, including autonomous refunds and credits under hard authorization ceilings. Eight years of client-facing sales sit underneath, which is why the agent's answers sound like a person and its money guardrails were written by someone who still works the queue it serves.

EXPERIENCE

Founding Support Lead — Evaboot

Jul 2025 – Present

Remote · B2B SaaS (LinkedIn Sales Navigator data extraction) | ~6-person team | Sole customer-facing hire | SMB to Enterprise

- Built and shipped the company's production AI support agent end to end — knowledge base, eval harness, AWS deployment, live audit. New users route to it by default, and it executes refunds, credits, cancellations and invoice voids autonomously under typed ceilings (refund $\leq$ \$29, credit $\leq$ 200), with idempotency keys, a verified ledger and a weekly audit. Every change gates behind a 114-case eval suite; 603 tests green on the triage layer, which is barred from touching money by a test rather than a comment.
- Cut median customer wait to 3.3 staffed hours, retiring a two-hour human monitoring window for a 24-hour automated cycle plus a two-hourly queue digest that reports itself into team chat. Drove the working inbox from 630 active threads to 120 and cleared the owed queue to zero on repeat cycles.
- Designed the knowledge layer from scratch — a 15-category taxonomy over 120 articles with SQLite/FTS5 retrieval (skipping vector RAG as over-engineering at 15k words), and a help center rebuilt on Astro Starlight / Cloudflare Pages and migrated off Intercom: 118 articles, zero dead links, 134 images recovered before their CDN expired.
- Recovered revenue and closed billing leaks — evidence on 19 disputes across 10 customers (~$1,070 + €49) with zero failures, 21 submissions in 15 minutes once systematized, plus verified money batches against a live reconciled ledger.
- Found the silent failures no dashboard was reporting: only 4 of ~296 support emails were reaching the ticketing system, closed-thread counts read 1 against 212 real, and published reply-time medians ran ~3x optimistic on a wrong staffed-day assumption. Archived 18,065 conversations to S3 ahead of a seat sunset with zero fetch failures.
- Built the onboarding and customer-education function from nothing — no documentation existed on arrival. Designed the flow, wrote the material, and produced the tutorial library script-to-edit (HubSpot and Clay integrations, recurring-export walkthroughs, in-app onboarding video). Authored the tone handbook every human and agent reply is written against.
- Carried the commercial surface alongside it — demos through to close including GDPR-skeptical enterprise buyers, contract execution (1M-credit deal), discount policy, ~3,000 emails/week outbound — and became engineering's defect channel via a machine-readable triage feed. Held all of it through a Chrome Web Store delisting and 400–500 ticket spikes as the only customer-facing person in the company.
